

New England States Committee on Electricity

December 28, 2011 - The New England States Committee on Electricity (NESCOE) is pleased to announce that Ben D'Antonio will be joining NESCOE as Counsel & Analyst in mid-January, 2012.

Ben joins NESCOE from the Massachusetts Department of Public Utilities' Regional and Federal Affairs Division. In that position, Ben worked on a range of regional electricity matters, including the Eastern Interconnection States Planning Collaborative and Price-Responsive Demand. Previously, he was with the Regulatory Assistance Project in Vermont. Earlier in his career, Ben was an investment analyst. Ben has a Juris Doctor and a Masters from Vermont Law School and a Bachelor of Arts in Economics from the University of Vermont.

"Ben's experience and education as both a lawyer and economist add considerable diversity to the NESCOE team. He also brings current knowledge of New England's most pressing electricity matters. We are delighted to welcome him," said Tom Getz, Chairman of the New Hampshire Public Utilities Commission and President of NESCOE.
